VENEZUELAN GUIANA PROBLEM

The war cloud that overhangs the United States and England, growing out sylvania. of the boundary line controversy between British Gniana and Venezula, is not a fully developed nimbns, but a cumulus of such dimensions as to be scrutinized carefully by all the world. The boundary line has never been definitely settled, and now that gold is found in paying quantities in the region along the controverted line, the British Government, of which Guiana is a province, claims more from Venezuela than the latter is inclined to concede. Venezuela has long wanted to arbitrate the question, being too weak to fight England, but the British lion demands the lion's share without any further ado. The I'nited States, through its Attorneytrine, notified England some weeks ago mitted to arbitration. England replied Michigan, Oregon, New Jersey and simply formed of a double puff of the that she would not submit to arbitration. Wisconsin one each. The balance noth- satin and were met by long white gloves. Thereupon the President sent to Congress ing. a special message on the subject, recom mending the passage of a law creating rommission to be supported by a liberal appropriation. Congress, with great mnanimity, enacted the law and voted $100,000 for expenses. The President will once dispatch to the committee, named by him, to Veneznela, and probably to Madrid and Ilague. The correspondence and message are presented to our reader in to-day's CLIMAX.

England cannot afford to have a war with the United States. She has tried it twice and knows it wouldnot be either brief or pleasant. Besides that, Canada. Ireland, India, Australia and numerou other countries belonging to England would rise in revolt against Mr. John Butl, and he would find himself "right in the middle of a bombshell-ah."

The substance of the Monroe doctrine as first enunciated by Washington and fully elucidted by President Monroe lis "shinny on vonr own side or yon'll get vonr snoot busted." This Government will not allow any Government of the eastern continent to forcibly acquire territory on the western continent.

Venezuela is the most northerly Repub lic of South America, and is a thousand miles south-east of Florida, a straight line between them passing through Cuba. It was discovered by Columbus, and was governed by Spain till 15ltl, when a ten years war resulted in the liberation of the of Simon Bolivar, "the Washington of " uth America," and Venezuela's first President. The great hattle of Caraboa, 1821, decided the routest, but not till the treath of Madrid in 1845 did Spain recognize the independency or her former slave. But in 1846, a 24-years war broke out between the Unionists, or advocates of a strong centralized government, and the Federalists, or States Rights party, the latter being victorious. A constitu tion modeled after that of the United states was adopted. In the meantime slavery was abolished. In 1551 the Republic was divided into S States, S Terri tories, 2 Colonies and 1 District. The supposed area is 500,000 square miles and the population 2,000,000, of which only three per cent is pure white, the others being negroes, mulattoes, Indians, and mixtures. Roman Catholic is the principal religion. Products are gold, copper, cai, phosphate, hides, dve stuffs, sugar, num, molasses, coffee, cocoa, maize, cattle, &c. The chief river is the Orinoco

LYNCHED BY NEGROES.

Near Little Rock, Ark., Saturday morning, a party of negroes lynched a negro who was living with the abandoned wife of one of the lynchers. The mob whipped the poor devil nearly to death, then tied irons to his body and drowned him in a mill pond. What will the New England "resolvers" and the Chicago colored preacher, who advised Southern negroes to use the torch in retaliation for lynching, have to remark on this

VENEZUELAN GUIANA PROBLEM

The war cloud that overhangs the United States and England, growing out sylv of the boundary line controversy between British Guiana and Venezula, is not a fully developed nimbus, but a cumulus of such dimensions as to be scrutinized carefully by all the world.

The boundary line has never been definitely settled, and now that gold is sach found in paying quantities in the region along the controverted line, the British Government, of which Guiana is a province, claims more from Venezuela than ider the latter is inclined to concede. Venezuela has long wanted to arbitrate the question, being too weak to fight England, but the British lion demands the lion's cons share without any further ado. The TI United States, through its Allerney- Stat-General, Mr. Olney, acting upon the Yor principle laid down in the Monroe doc | en, trine, notified England some weeks ago four that the boundary dispute must be su', ifor mitted to arbitration. England replied Mich that she would not submit to arbitration. Venezuela is the most northerly Repub licof South America, and is a thousand Laws. miles south-east of Florida, a straight line Hur T between them passing through Cuba. It was discovered by Columbus, and was governed by Spain till 1810, when a ten years war resulted in the liberation of the aud M country under the powerful generalship of Simon Bolivar, "the Washington of Hung: South America," and Venezuela's first President. The great battle of Caraboa, 1821, decided the rontest, but not till the War c treaty of Madrid in t845 did Spain recognize the independency of her former slave. But in 1846, a 24-years war broke good 1 unt between the Unionists, or advocates of a strong centralized government, and the Federalists, or States Rights party, the latter being victorious. A constitu tion modeled after that of the United states was adopted. In the meantime negro

Inadequate Coast Defenses. Our coast defenses are inadequate, but the coast towns are not so absolutely defenseless as is generally imagined, and some of them are supplied with the best of our new guns. Under pressure tho naval gun factory, near Washington, could add to the ordnance of the war department, and the army gun establishments could do wonders if urged to speedy work and would furnish to a few months many batteries of powerful guns. For manning the defenses and for supporting any undertaking by bodies of troops there would be that part of our regular army of 25,000 men that could bo spared from its present duties and the national gnard. Reliance would not be placed in these troops if the menaco from England were very serious. The regular army would offer to its officers who seek faine and advancement the opportunity to win both by entering the volunteer service as organizers. If all the men of milltary age could be considered as available to swell a volunteer army, it would be possithe to put in the field several millions of upen if the emergency became so great as to demand the enrollment of overy male person who could carry a musket. VENEZUELAN GUIANA PROBLEM

The war cloud that overhangs th United States and England, growing o of the boundary line controversy between British Guiana and Venezula, is not fully developed uimbus, but a cumul of such dimensions as to be scrutinize carefully by all the world.

The boundary line has never bedefinitely settled, and now that gold found in paying quantities in the region along the controverted line, the Briti Government, of which Guiana is a proince, claims more from Venezuela the the latter is inclined to concede. Ver znela has long wanted to arbitrate t question, being too weak to fight Englan but the British lion demands the lion share without any further ado. T United States, through its Attorne General, Mr. Olney, acting upon t principle laid down in the Monroe dc trime, notified England some weeks a that the boundary dispute must be sumitted to arlitration. England replie that she would not submit to arbitratio Thereupon the President sent to Congre a special unssage on the subject, recor n ending the passage of a law creating commission to be supported by a liber appropriation. Congress, with gremanimity, reacted the law and vob-$100,000 for expenses. The President w ouce dispatch to the committee, name by him, to Veneznela, and probably Madrid and Hagne. The corresponden and message are presented to our reade in to-day's CHMAX.

England cannot afford to have a w with the United States. She has tried twice and knows it wouldnot be eith brief or pleasant. Besides that, Canad Ireland, India, Australia and numero other countries belonging to Englar would rise in revolt against Mr. dol Bu l, and he would find himself "rig in the middle of a bombshell-ah."

The substance of the Monroe doctrin as first enunciated by Washington at fully elucidted by President Mauroe "shinny on your own side or you'll g your snoot husted." This Governme will not allow any Government of tirastern continent to forcibly acquire to ritory on the western continent.

Venezuela is the most northerly Repu lic of South America, and is a thousan n iles south-east of Florida, a straight lin between them passing through Cuba. was discovered by Columbus, and w. governed by Spain till 1810, when a to years war resulted in the liberation of th r untry under the powerful generalsh. on Bolivar, "the Washin South America," and Venezuela's fir President. The great lattle of Carabo 1821, decided the contest, but not till tl treaty of Madrid in 1845 did Spain reco nize the independency of her forms slave. But in 1846, a 24-years war brokout between the Unionists, or a lyocate of a strong centralized government, an the Federalists, or States Rights part, the latter being victorions. A constitu tion modeled after that of the Unite states was adopted. In the meantin slavery was abolished. In 1-51 the R public was divided into S States, S Terr tories, 2 Colonies and 1 District. Ti supposed area is 500,000 square miles an the population 2,000,000, of which onl three per cent is pure white, the other being negroes, neulattoes, Indians, an mixtures. Romau Catholic is the princ pal religion. Products are gold, coppe sal, phosphate, hides, dve stuffs, suga rum, molasses, collee, cocoa, marze, ca tle, &c. The chief river is the Orinocc the mouth of which is well fortified, an commands the terminus of the railroa 26 miles to Caracas, the capital. Caraca is a viry of 90,000 people, is more than 330 years old, has a university, a famon colored church, waterworks and othe modern improvements; is 2880 feet abov sen level. In 1812 au earthquake kille 12,000 of its population.

British Guiana is east of Venezuels It claims 76,000 square miles of territory lint according to Venezuelan and Brazil ian claums, has only 12,000 square miles Its products and people are practicall the same as those of Venezuela. Deme rara is an important river and its valle; produces a noted sugar. Essequib River is the line for some distance up when Guiana territory crosses over to the Venezuelan side, according to Venezuelar claims. But Guiana, or its owner, Eng. land, claims a large territory west of the mouth of the Essequibo, extending to the mouth of the Orinoco and up that rive to its tributary, the Amacura River. In this dispute I territory between the Esse quibo and the Amacura, along a little river called the Barima, $4,000,000 is in vested in mines, and the British Govern mentis exacting a per cent tax on the products of the mines. It is said that the boundary line according to English cus tom, "wriggles like a snake when gold names are in question." Besides gold west of the mines is a prairie caltle coun try, and the British want that. Venezuela and Guiana have their mountains as well as valleys and prairies A small river leaps 800 feet down a precipice into the Essequibo. Malaria abounds in the low lands, and a foreign army
